This examination should also take into special consideration the extent to which the introduction of molecular additions is of importance in the formation of such compounds, and whether it is possible to devise a complete systematic arrangement of such compounds. The solution of the problem was admittedly incomplete, inasmuch as only a single branch of the subject - the silicates - was taken into consideration. For this reason the Faculty did not grant the first prize to this thesis, but readily granted the second prize in recognition of fruitful labours leading to a single theory covering a very important group of complex compounds.
