Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Cervantes-Shakespeare Tercentenary, Vol. 2: 1616-1916, Biographical Notes, Selections, And Appreciations The world has produced but half a dozen literary geniuses of the first order. Homer in Greece, Virgil in Rome, Dante in Italy, Shakespeare in England, Cervantes in Spain, and Goethe in Germany tower unique and majestic above their fellows. April 23, 1916, marks the three-hundredth anniversary of the death of two of these men - Cervantes and Shakespeare. The Spanish and the Anglo-Saxon peoples, and their descendants, have made preparation to commemorate the day in a manner worthy of the genius of these two men, the noblest representatives of their races. For Porto Rico and Porto Ricans the day has a special significance. Descended from one of these two races and politically united with the other, Porto Ricans have a double interest in keeping alive these two names. The future holds the richest promise for the descendants of the Spanish and Anglo-Saxon races in America, all the greater if these two younger races are brought to see and realize their common destiny. Porto Rico...
